Are your teams comfortable with selling?

The Aged Care industry has changed dramatically over the last few years. In this very competitive marketplace organisations need their teams to develop new skills to sell their services, attract new clients and retain their business.

Adapting to change is challenging. For people who are faced with shifting to a sales role or leading a team to meet commercial outcomes, it can feel very uncomfortable.

HAVE YOU NOTICED ANY OF THESE REACTIONS FROM YOUR TEAM?

ARE YOUR CLIENT FACING TEAMS?

- Tired of constant changes, feeling unsettled and overwhelmed?
- Frustrated that they got into this sector to serve and now feel their job has changed to sales?
- Feel selling is not their core job and are reluctant to do it?
- Uncomfortable selling and feeling anxious, duped or privately angry?
- Reluctant in discussions about sales - KPI's, pipelines, follow ups, upselling?

ARE YOUR LEADERS?

- Lacking in the skill set to lead their team through constant change?
- Frustrated at their team's unwillingness to change?
- Not sure how to establish KPI's and keep the team accountable?
- Not taking accountability for the changes and feel like they have no buy in?
- Uncomfortable with sales language?

OUR TRAINING WILL HELP YOUR TEAM ADAPT AND THRIVE

YOUR CLIENT FACING TEAM WILL:

- See that they are already selling (its communication with commercial smarts)
- Embrace and find selling easy – and that it's in the customers interests
- Know how to be positive, and be in charge of their emotional state
- Adhere to, respect and drive their KPI's with accountability
- Understand how to close a sale, follow up and make it easy for the family to sign up

YOUR LEADERS WILL:

- Know how to motivate the team
- Know how to lead from the front and manage from the back
- Steer the team to be intrinsically motivated to want to serve the client and drive business
- Use language which highly impacts their team's intent, motivation and performance

“I engaged Charmaine to help “create” a new team from an existing one of over 40 people. Her pre work and investment of time and energy was unbelievable. She went to incredible lengths to understand me, my managers, our business and each team member, so on the workshop day she knew all of our nuances. The team are now empowered and confident.”

Training designed for rapid results by a sales and communication expert

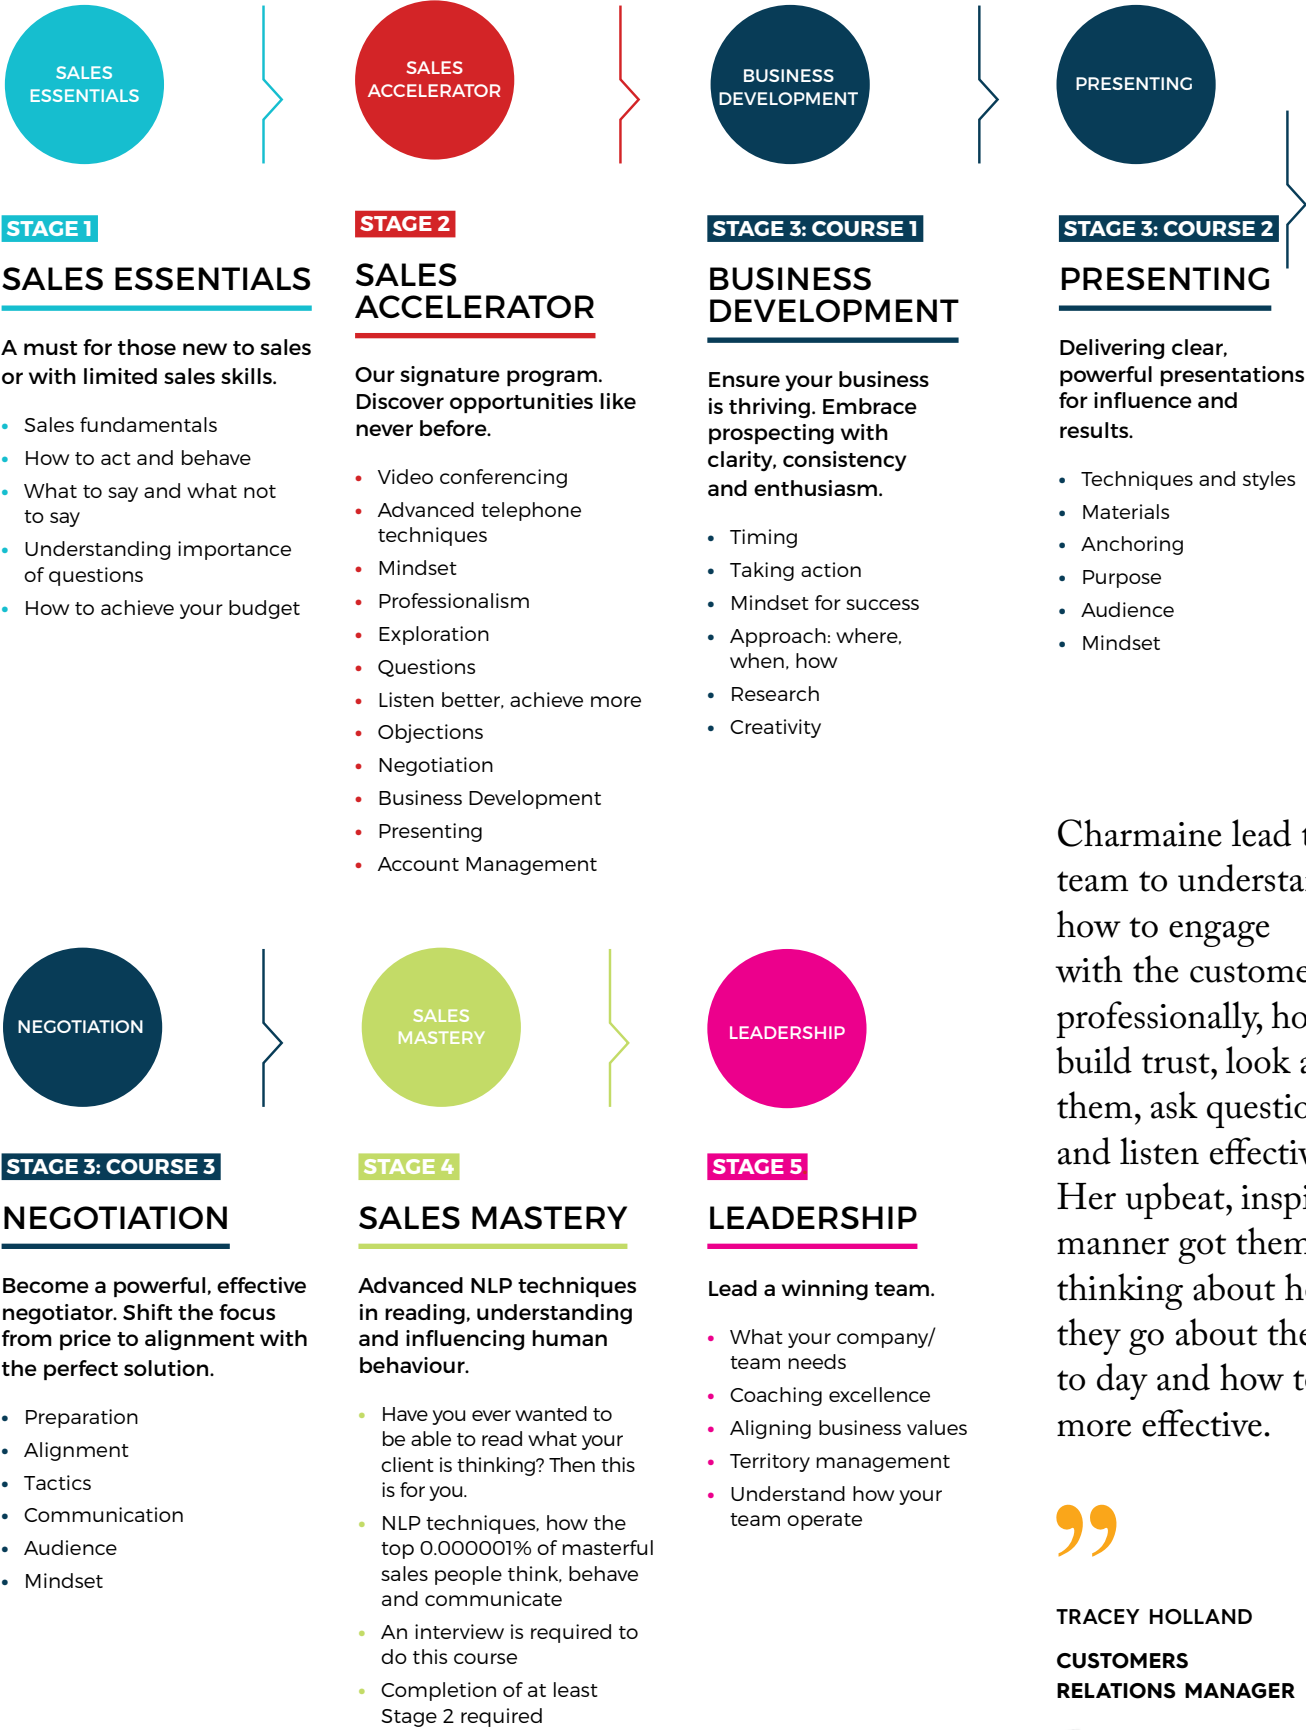

We have designed a program tailored to the Aged Care sector to include customer service, communication, complaint handling and conflict resolution.

Your organisation can choose one stage or select modules from all the programs for your teams.

Ongoing sales training for positive, lasting change

People who are responsible for selling can evolve through the seven stages of sales training. We will help you assess your team requirements and recommend the best place to start and the next steps to continuously enhance their skills.

Charmaine lead the team to understand how to engage with the customers professionally, how to build trust, look after them, ask questions and listen effectively. Her upbeat, inspiring manner got them thinking about how they go about their day to day and how to be more effective.
